EFFECTIVE RESEARCHING OF CONTRACTORS (SERVICE VALIDATION)

The leading reason for most successful contract-related home projects is that residents do thorough enough research or service validations on contractors; the leading reason for most unsuccessful contract-related home projects is that residents do not do thorough enough research or service validations on contractors.

The Line Up

Therefore, when it comes to the home project you have in mind for which you anticipate authorizing contractor assistance, one of first things it is strongly recommended for you to do, is thoroughly research "contractors." That is, of course, pluralized since time and again it has been proven that your chances for getting the sort of service you need, in the reasonable price range you need, are much greater when you first interview at least five (5) contractors who are similarly skilled towards the sort of project you have in mind.

Initial Research

The "initial research" entails asking around about the best contractors for the sort of project you need accomplished. Sources in this regard are

1. word-of-mouth; 2. internet search engines; 3. contractors themselves.

What you are looking for are contractors who are best skilled for the project. People can tell you anything; the internet can tell you anything; even the contractors themselves can tell you anything. It may take a while before you have at least five (5) likely candidates for your project. Please, do not rush a thing. Once you have your candidates, you can then set up a brief introductory meeting. Ten (10) minutes at most.

The 10-Minute Meeting

It is recommended that you schedule these separately but in the same hour, on the same day. You will later hand each of them a special screening document (This is later introduced in this tutorial). Be certain they are whom they say they are.

Physically, inspect ID. You must see it clearly. If they do not have proper ID, it is recommended that you go no farther. Decline service. However, when contractors have proper ID, proceed. During this meeting, you can:

1. give each a walk-around or a walk-through (depending on your project's location), synonymous to discussing your hopes for project results, then winding down at the front of the house where you can ask his/her bid;
2. carefully, record the bid in your pad; note who gave it in writing, as well;

3. then ask the contractor to wait at the foot of your front steps or at the front gate until you return. Please, DO NOT allow contractor inside (or back inside after the initial walk-through to explain what you needed done inside) for ANY reason since nothing has been finalized. If your screening document is not readily accessible, please, gently lock your door if you have to go more than a couple yards into the home. If you are not able to carry your "Service Validation Forms" (screening documents) with you during the initial tour, please, have them by the door inside or accessible from outside. For example, the porch or front stairs);
4. return with your "SERVICE VALIDATION FORM" and ask the contractor to take it with him/her, fill it out 100%, then return it within 24 hours (or at some later time) along with five (5) references from residents for whom he/she has "RECENTLY" done the same or similar work;
5. Repeat with the other contractors;

*The "[SERVICE VALIDATION FORM" - Contractor Screening Document (Website). This special website explains its origins, design, use, and invaluableity towards successfully screening out the worst contractors and screening in the best. Download available.]

6. Once the contractor returns the 100% complete "SERVICE VALIDATION FORM," and the required five (5) residential references, you can thank him/her for dropping it off, then let the contractor know that you will get back to him/her some time on the following day or later;

7. Do the research or delegate it. Here are websites/links you can use which will facilitate the process:

Oklahoma Secretary of State

All contractors who would like to start businesses in the State of Oklahoma are required to be registered with the Office of the Oklahoma Secretary of State. Please Validate.

Building-General Contractors-Oklahoma

Heads Up: The state of Oklahoma does not require building contractors and general contractors to be licensed. Home improvement contractors are considered "general contractors" by the State. [REF.]

*However, in the space of your "Service Validation Form" which reads:

"Contractor's License/Registration#," please, expect the contractor to enter the Registration # issued to him/her by the "Oklahoma Secretary of State." Apparently, in Oklahoma, building contractors and general contractors are the only contractors allowed to use this Registration# as formal business ID in the State.

Registered Roofing Contractor Validation as Per "Oklahoma Construction Industries Board." You can check this immediately above link for the roofer's "Personal Name," "Business Name," and/or "Registration Number." If roofer is not listed here, consistent with the information he/she has given you, it is advisable to decline service. No second chance. No time waste since there is an apparent circumstance of extreme dishonesty. It is normally assumed, under such circumstance, he/she has knowingly not shared the correct info with you, and will do it again in this matter if given the chance. Your decision!

- Note 1: For roofers, registration with the Office of the Secretary of State IS NOT the same as registration with the “Oklahoma Construction Industries Board.” If not duly registered, with “The Board,” it could be very possible that the contractor is operating illegally. Check it out!

Roofing Registration Division (405) 521-6550

Note 2: When contractor says he/she is a member of Home Builders Association, Master Builders Association, or any other notable trades operation, please, ask to see valid and current ID to that effect. If no related ID, it is not advisable to listen for explanations since any certification or ID which increases the contractor’s chances for landing the gig, is like money or a very valuable ticket. Contractors do not “forget” them. If the contractor claims “loss,” ask:

- a. Which “association” office he/she is from;
- b. Write it down and ask for the number while you are at it;
- c. Ask for a contact name at that office (write it down clearly);
- d. Call until you get someone (An old trick is to enter the number exactly as given in the browser of your favorite search engine. Normally, you are able to trace it to its actual point or area of origination. You can also try “reverse lookup.”

Nevertheless, even if a contractor checks out with whatever that trades organization may be, it is not recommended that you take that as all the proof you need of credibility. A Thorough “service validation” [screening process] is required, irrespective. There are scandalous contractors who also have verifiable trades affiliations, credentials, and licenses. This is the reason it is strongly advised that you do a thorough reputation check (service validation), regardless. All bases must be covered. Everything must check out 100%.

Note: It is not advisable to waste time trying to look any farther if any contractor says he/she is a member of any specifics trades organization but is not listed there. Always demand documentation (whether or not the contractors appears on the membership roster). It must be current. Check it out personally or delegate. It may not be safe for you to go by a contractor’s membership, alone. Everything is recommended to be checked out and cleared.

Otherwise, it is suggested that you go no farther with this person since documentation which is not current is the equivalent of illegal documentation. This is a red flag for trouble. Avoid it. Avoid the contractor. Enforce.

8. Results you get from following the instructions of this Service Booklet regarding hiring are suggested to be most acceptable when contractor checks out 100% favorable. No gaps. Gaps in a contractor's information often indicate trouble ahead. If contractor doesn't check out 100%, it is recommended that you search for more reliable candidates using same procedure. Sometimes best candidates are just around the bend. Please, find them!

EFFECTIVE MEANS FOR FILING COMPLAINTS WITH RELATED GOVERNMENT OFFICES

There are an untold number of private home residents who are caught by surprise (largely due to neglecting thorough "service validations" on contractors) learning that the contractor they hired was not reliable. It could be for any number of reasons, from doing shoddy work to no work at all. Also, in most of these cases, residents did the forbidden: The gave the contractor money in advance. The amount given is not as significant as the fact that it was not invested wisely. But before you file your complaint with the proper Oklahoma authorities, please note this: Formal resident etiquette which is universally accepted in contractor-related disputes is for you to first put forth a personal, documented effort to resolve difference before actually filing a complaint with the government. One reason is that many complaints can be resolved when you diplomatically approach contractors directly with a personal complaint letter.

Normally, it's used as both a serious warning for probable legal action, and as documentation for the government in the event the contractor is uncooperative. In this case, you have written evidence to the effect that you tried. This adds more leverage to your complaint when you really have to file it, and/or to equivalent consumer advocate entities. Please get your attorney's advice on the feasibility of sending the contractor/contract firm the following Complaint Letter:

Optional Format for Complaint Letter to Business (Optional first move)

If after a period of seven (7) consecutive business days (unless your state recommends more time before filing your complaint), the contractor does not respond consistent with your request(s) for resolving your differences, you may then want to file your complaint without further hesitation. Your decision.
